

The Medtech Industry Connection Program

Developed by The Victorian Medtech Skills and Devices Hub

This pilot program, developed by the Victorian Medtech Skills and Devices Hub (VMH), seeks to build stronger connections between the Medtech industry and students as part of its goal to be a centralised Medtech engagement office for Victoria.

Industry professionals will be matched with students and graduates from leading tertiary institutions with shared Medtech areas of interest to create opportunities for valuable professional connections.

The program requires students to be available for a one-off in person meeting with their appointed industry expert. Both parties may decide to build a working relationship beyond the program after their meeting has taken place – the model of engagement is intentionally flexible to allow students to take initiative with managing their industry relationship.

Program Aims

The program is designed to:

- Support the development of students, young professionals and career changers considering a future in the Medtech sector
- Facilitate skills and talent matching for internships, industry projects and work integrated learning placements, where there is alignment for opportunities
- Raise awareness of career pathways
- Provide flexible opportunities for industry to build connections with students and for graduates to open doors to a Medtech career

We will shortlist our student applicants based on your skills and experience requirements to ensure a tailored matching process.

What's Involved

This program is intended to be a flexible and personalised means for industry to engage with young professionals and source emerging talent.

In the signup process you will be asked to provide your communication and matched candidate preferences and we will ensure you are matched accordingly.

You may be matched with more than one candidate (at your preference) over a set period of time. For each match you will be sent a candidate profile and the candidate will be provided your contact details to directly arrange a one-off meeting.

Following each meeting we will get in touch with you to record meeting outcomes and collect feedback to improve our matching process.

You may choose to build a working relationship with your matched candidate beyond the program.
